The Department Acquires Crash Apparatus

A 100 1-2-ton, 155 class "crash" truck—the last word in modern, fire-fighting equipment—is the latest acquisition of the Fort Benning Fire Department.

The primary use of the huge vehicle is to battle plane wrecks and the great engine may be instrumental in saving lives, as well as thousands of dollars worth of equipment.

Construction of the power of the truck was staged recently at Lawson Field, where the "red" is housed, and its effectiveness was shown to the assembly of the men in charge, the driver, two turret operators, three hand line men, and two rescue men.

Each member of the crew wears regulation garb, with the exception of a specially improvised face mask, made from lainglass taken from the front of an old airplane. This is a most necessary item, for the flames often move in very close to the flames, and the heat is intense.

Four Troopers Get Silver Stars

War Department announcements this week revealed the names of four more paratroopers whose bravery and gallantry won them the Silver Star. The conspicuous gallantry during the ground fighting in Italy singled each man as a hero.

Captain Andrew W. Row, Jr., of Marine City, Michigan, was cited for his excellent leadership. He successfully and efficiently directed the defensive fire of his company, even though wounded. Attacked and outnumbered in the early morning hours, Captain Row's greatly reduced company of only 43 enlisted men repulsed about 130 Germans, killing 38 and wounding 56. Captain Row, then a Lieutenant, graduated from The Parachute School in May of 1942.

Team work and intrepidity won the Silver Star for two other paratroopers. Sergeant Howard L. Jones, of Colorado Springs, Col., and Corporal Adelbert J. Tyrer, of Buffalo, N. Y., voluntarily carried light machine gun over open and exposed terrain to strengthen the unprotected flank of a unit to their left. It was during a German counterattack on their company's newly won positions, and despite intense enemy machine gun, rifle and mortar fire directed at them, the two troopers kept their weapon in action long enough to break up the German advance, allowing the unit on their left to reorganize. Both men were slightly wounded in the action.

The fourth award went to Private Theodore H. Bacheneimer, of Hollywood, Calif., for his direct leadership and bravery as the leader of a six-man night patrol which penetrated German lines to capture prisoners. Both men were the mission, one man of the patrol was killed in a skirmish with the enemy. Sending two men back to friendly lines with the information, Bacheneimer led the remaining three men deeper into enemy territory.

Encountering more outposts, he impersonated a German soldier, and inched his way forward until his ruse was detected and enemy machine pistols opened fire. In the ensuing fight, the four man patrol killed three of the enemy. Bacheneimer disarmed one German, took him prisoner, and led his three men and the prisoner back through the German lines to safety.

spoke volubly, describing enemy positions, strength, placement of guns, and whatever else he saw. Not long after this, the information he had brought back was to be used to fullest advantage. The Americans smashed through Salerno and broke the back of Nazi resistance in southern Italy.

And as Corporal Papa attends to the mail in The Parachute School, he likes to think that the information he brought back with him from his three-day holiday helped a little in smashing the enemy.

Trooper Tells How Steak Helped Capture 20 Nazis

As a member of the Rangers which spearheaded the invasions of North Africa, Sicily, and Italy, Pvt. John E. Sugrue, recently assigned as supply clerk to the 2nd Parachute Training Regiment at Fort Benning, has brought back with him many tales of battles and adventures. But none is quite so strange as that in which As luck would have it, he went on patrol and was captured by this group of 20 Nazis. The kid was from Brooklyn, which may explain his gift of gab. At any rate, he started talking to the Nazis in their own language. At first he chattered aimlessly until he caught the interest of the Nazis. Then he began to talk about the kind of grub we were getting. Actually, our rations were pretty slim at the time, but this didn't stop the GI. He began describing the juicy steak we were supposed to get every day until the mouths of the Nazis began to water. When he felt that the Nazis had swallowed his bait he began to pull the line in. "Why, don't you guys get smart?" he asked kindly. "Come over to our side and get all the steak and potatoes you can eat. We feed our prisoners the same chow we get."

As if it were carefully timed, the Americans at that moment started a heavy barrage. The Nazis had to seek cover, taking their prisoners with them. All this while, the G. I. kept describing American Army steak dinners until the Nazis began to look at one another with meaningful glances. They started to whisper among themselves. Then they announced that they had made up their minds. They would give themselves up. Alone, this GI marched the 20 Nazis into the American lines—a captive who, by a strange turn of fate, had now become a captor.

This story has a curious epilogue. At chow time, the Nazis lined up for their food. By a strange coincidence, the fare they were served included steak.

Post Salvages 1,268 Tons Of Metal in 2 Years

A total of 1,268 tons of salvage was collected from various sources on the Reservation and turned in to the Salvage Yard for distribution, during the past two years, according to a report made by Lt. Col. C. A. Will, director of training who gathered salvaged metal in addition to his principal duties.

Besides this, the post has gathered many thousands tons of other scrap, in metals, rubber, and paper, through regular salvage campaigns under a specially designated salvage campaign officer, Colonel Will emphasized in his report that his salvage work was merely in addition to the other work on the post.

From Sept. 1, 1942 to October 1, 1944, a total of 1,239 tons of scrap metals was collected. Besides this, five and seven-eighths tons of rubber was recovered, six tons of cardboard and more than 17 tons of toothpaste tubes, the report, which was made to Brig. Gen. William H. Hobson, showed. Of the metals, more than 165 tons were in railroad rails, of which 151 tons were turned back to the Post Engineer to be used in building new track.

In addition to the materials salvaged, 1,800 pounds of found iron valued at $4,000, was found and was turned in to the Post Maintenance Officer to be used in making repairs.

A feature of the salvage work under Col. Will's supervision was the discovery of the "scrap mine" where metals had been dumped for many years. This was "mined" by hydraulic engineering methods and yielded many tons of valuable iron and steel and other metals.

THE MAJOR JOHNSONS OF BENNING Gold Oak Leaves 'Major' Problem With Johnsons

The majority of the Johnson family of Fort Benning now proudly wear the oak leaves of majors in the Army of the United States.

Major Clarence T. Johnson, executive officer of the Prisoner of War Camp at Fort Benning, pinned the oak leaves of a major on his son, Major Clarence T. Johnson, Jr., who has recently returned from combat in the Southwest Pacific and received word of his promotion while en route to visit his father and mother here.

Major Johnson, Sr., mayor of San Bernardino, Calif., until he was called to active duty in 1940, has served as executive officer of the POW camp Benning since its inception.

The major's son, who has been decorated several times, including the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Silver Star with oak leaf cluster, and a Presidential Unit Citation with an oak leaf cluster, had been a fighter pilot in the Southwest Pacific.

He wears four battle clasps on his Southwest Pacific campaign ribbon, denoting action in the Coral Sea, Bismark Sea, Darwin, Australia, and New Guinea.

On one of his missions near Darwin, young Major Johnson's plane was shot down and the pilot parachuted to safety. However, he landed in the jungles and for five days sought an escape until friendly natives rescued him. He received the Purple Heart decoration for injuries sustained.

While in the Southwest Pacific, Major Johnson married the former Ellen Louise Blinn, from Boston, a second lieutenant in the Army Nurse Corps. She has since retired from active duty and is the mother of a young son.

Major and Mrs. Johnson now make their home in Oklahoma City, Okla., where Major Johnson is production and control officer at Tinker Field, an Army Air Force installation.

2d Army Little Theater Season To Open Soon

The Second Army Soldier Show victory laurels still dangling from their chests, the 220th Ordinance Heavy Automotive Maintenance company's thespians again dig into their entertainment repertoire, coming up with a one-act play that will officially open the Fourth Headquarters, Special Troops, Little Theater season the early part of November.

Although the first production was originally scheduled for the first of the year, since the cancellation of the big Second Army show due to existing emergencies, and which was announced by the Little Theater group, the Little Theater productions are to be launched immediately. The 220th's first show will be premiered at Service Club No. 1, the exact date to be announced later.

In future productions it is the desire of the Second Army Special Service Office to open a Little Theater movement to any and all organizations and personnel that are interested in participating. There will be a regular hall board posted at Service Club No. 1, listing the production that is being cast, and the roles open. This would mean any civilian person that is working on the post would be eligible for participation, as well as all military actors, actresses, and production crews.

The possibilities of the Little Theater workshop plays are manifold. All playwrights on the post can bring their brainchild before an audience; all would-be actors can again delve in the realms of grease paint and make-believe.

Perhaps the Noel Coward of tomorrow is here in Benning; perhaps the Lewis Stone, the Monty Woolley or the Barrymore is waiting to cross the boards for the first time. It is the aim of this intimate group to revive the sluggish blood of those that may long for the lure of the footlight.

Additional information may be had by calling the Second Army Special Service office 2806, or Miss Hilda Clay, 2807, no later than Service Club No. 1.

Get in your application for that "A" gasoline ration book this week and you'll get it back within 48 hours—but if you wait until next week, they'll be issued alphabetically and you'll have to wait your turn.

That was the warning issued today by Sgt. Louis Lipp, secretary of the Fort Benning branch of the Muscogee County Ration Board. The Ft. Benning branch has caught up with the first rush of applications, but they now are coming in slowly and another big rush is expected before the expiration of the present book early in November.

"Our files now are in such shape that we can run through applications received this week—but if holders of the books wait until next week, we'll be sending them out alphabetically then and they can't get their new 'A' books so quickly," Sgt. Lipp said.

Applications must have the back of the existing "A" book attached. Coupons numbered 11 in the present books will be good through Nov. 8. Coupons numbered 12 will not be used, but the new books, starting with coupon 13, will be used to bring the eastern seaboard states into line with the rest of the country, which now is using the 13 series.

Application blanks may be obtained through units at the post, or directly from the ration board located in the south tower of Doughboy Stadium directly across from Service Club 1.

Raiders Have 2-Day Bivouac

The first training bivouac and maneuvers for the Fourth Infantry Regiment since the days of the regiment's service in Alaska and the Aleutians took place last Saturday and Sunday.

The training maneuvers started Saturday morning with a full field inspection. The inspection was held on Todd Field, regimental parade ground and athletic field.

With all equipment aboard, the regiment moved out in true infantry style to the area, leaving Todd Field at approximately noon, Saturday. In this initial bivouac area, the actual training of the men was carried out. Company kitchens and control points were set up in true tactical style and the men of the companies underwent training which specialized in the tactics of small unit maneuvers.

The maneuver continued on Sunday morning with some additional training, and following the noon meal, the regiment returned to the regimental area.

The paper, in news magazine form, will be printed twice a month. All the typesetting is done by the staff and the paper is printed on a small press operated by the patients who are being given reconditioning training at Hospital Unit 2 in the Harmony Church area.

Corp. C. R. Fraley is managing editor while Pvt. H. A. Stedler is the official printer in charge of the press work. Col. Chauncey E. Doyell, commanding officer of the Regional Hospital, Major D. H. Fisher and Capt. R. L. Webster are advisory officers.

Miami Navy Bows, 41-7

By PFC. J. T. MOORE
(Special to The Bayonet)

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 22.—With Billy Hillenbrand running wild and Lou Saban, another former Indiana star, the "triggerman" of a spectacular passing attack, the Third Infantry Cockades, of the Infantry School today trounced the Miami Naval Training Center, 41 to 7, in the Orange Bowl.

Hillenbrand tallied three touchdowns, one on a spectacular 75-yard romp; the second on a 45-yard jaunt, and the third on a pass from Saban.

Saban's passing accounted for most of the 21 yards the Cockades gained through the air, and he also converted four placekicks for extra points.

COCKADES SCORE EARLY
The outcome of the game was never in doubt after the first play when Joe Dowd, Cockades' left end, intercepted a pass on the Miami 25-yard stripe and raced for a touchdown. Saban converted the extra point.

Following Saban's kickoff, the Tars failed to gain, and the Cockades took the ball on the 45-yard line. Hillenbrand and Saban combined a spectacular running and passing attack which carried the Tars 19, where Hillenbrand tried his hand at passing and completed successive series to Krupa and Borkka.

Borkka set the stage for the Cockades' next tally when he intercepted a Navy pass on the 25-yard line and carried it up to the 25. On the next play, he lateraled to Saban, who tossed a pass to the 30. Saban converted for the score.

MIAMI SCORES
The Tars' lone tally came in the second quarter when Vin Vaccaro, fleet Tars' back, intercepted Archipoli's pass and scampered 45-yards for a touchdown. The try for the extra point was blocked, but Lumdy gathered up the free ball and passed to Vaccaro for the point.

Four plays later the Cockades came back to score again. After Cantarella lugged the kickoff back 25 yards to his own 20, Bowers lost 12 yards, and then Hillenbrand broke loose for 27 yards, and on the next play took a pass from Saban and raced 45 yards to score. Saban converted for the fourth time in a row.

Following an exchange of punts, the Cockades scored on their fifth touchdown. Hillenbrand started the drive by returning a punt 26 yards to the Miami 26. Saban roared through tackle for a first down, and then passed to Hillenbrand, who took the ball near the goal line and walked over. The attempt to convert was wide.

HILLENBRAND AGAIN
The Cockades dug out the ancient old sleeper play as soon as the second-half started and Hillenbrand took a short pass from Saban and dashed 78 yards through the befuddled Miami players. Saban converted, making five times out of six attempts he registered the extra point.

The Cockades reserves took over for the remainder of the game, and twice drove deep into the home team's territory only to lose the ball on downs.

Late in the third period, the Tars mustered a sustained drive and reached the Cockades' 20-yard stripe before they were forced to surrender the ball.

The 3rd's starting lineup drove big holes in the Miami forward wall allowing Hillenbrand to run at ease. When they tightened their defenses, Saban passed them. Tank, Varian, and Utz stood out in the Cockades' line, but it was strictly a case of too much Hillenbrand and Saban. The score attests to that: the Tars will win.

The game might have been different with them on the bench, but they played and that is the main reason why the score was so lopsided.

Vaccaro was outstanding for the losers.

Both teams registered six first downs. The Cockades, however, took the ground gaining and passing honors, gaining 145 yards rushing and 231 yards through the air against the Tars' 40 yards on the ground and 103 in the air.

Saban made good on four placement attempts in five tries; and also turned in a spectacular passing game.

GRIDIRON GUESS—WORK!
Last week, as the grid-guessing campaign began to hit the point where the games get closer and closer, we still managed to hang on by our shirt-tail to a fairly respectable average. Of 15 selections, we ran into three ties (Alabama-Tennessee, Holy Cross-Brown, and Temple-Syracuse), which we automatically drop from consideration. Of the remaining 12 titles which went to a decision, we were correct on 17, wrong on five. The games that floored us were Tech's win over Navy (who didn't miss on that), Washington's dumping at the hands of Southern Cal at the time of 34-7. Yes, we picked the Huskies, and in our favor, they were relatively close. So here goes on another dipping into the old barrel and let's see what our selections are marked in bold face.

Port Knox at 3rd Infantry—Cockades, despite their battered condition, should skin through on Hillenbrand's shoulders.

Keesler Field at 4th Infantry—Sentiment says otherwise, but we doubt if the Raiders can cope with the power-lunged Commandos and their flock of break-away backs. Should be a great game and well be most happy to be proven wrong.

Col. P. H. H. at Georgia Tech—Much closer than you'd expect, with the Jackets a touchdown better.

Kentucky at Alabama—We like the Tide in a close one (orders from the top, ya know!).

Wake Forest at Miami—Deacons to romp. A guy's entitled to one easy one a week.

L. S. U. at Georgia—Wally and the boys hope to get revenge for the pair of lacings they absorbed from the Bengals a year ago.

Arkansas at Ole Miss—The Travelers in a hot battle.

Clemson at Tennessee—The Vols should get their scoring machine oiled up again after the "Bama" deadlock.

Southern Methodist at Tulane—Green Wave is one of the best in the South, and they are at home, too!

Buke at Army—This is the first real test for the Cadets, but they should weather it by a couple of scores.

Navy at Penn—Middies are bound to unwind soon, and after last week's debacle, Quaker kids look like the victims.

Raiders In 33-0 Romp

By PVT. TOM JUDGE
(Special to The Bayonet)

RUSTON, La., Oct. 20.—Rolling up 273 yards with a devastating ground attack, the Fourth Infantry Raiders, of The Infantry School, had little trouble defeating Louisiana Tech 33 to 0, here tonight.

The Raiders also lost two other touchdowns because of penalties, and it is a question of how big the score would have been if Coach Gene Myers had not made so many substitutions.

Dick McPhee, Dick Weber, Carl Estenik, Dick Hecht, and Aldo Cenci, big Raider backs, had too much power for the younger collegians.

McPHEE SCORES
Three minutes after the game started, the Raiders drove for a touchdown only to lose it and be penalized 15 yards for holding. McPhee carrying over from the 9-yard stripe, George Hecht place-kicked the ball to the 10. The Raiders scored a few plays later when they recovered a Tech fumble, and Mont, Meek, Estenik and McPhee converted the drive to the 1, where McPhee plunged over. Hecht again converted.

A second Tech fumble set up another Raider score. This time Cenci drove over from the 2, after Johnson and Casman took turns at carrying the ball to the 10. Hecht failed to convert.

LONG RUNBACK
Johnny Steward, the outstanding back on the home team, took the Raiders' next kickoff and carried it all the way to their 20-yard stripe before George Johnson pulled him down from behind. The collegians drove to the Raiders' 6, but were forced to give up the ball on downs.

The College boys came back with a 73-yard drive, and seemed as though they were going to tally, but Cecil Kemp, the Raiders' big center, intercepted a pass and raced 73-yards for a touchdown. But for the second time in the night the Raiders lost a touchdown and were penalized 15 yards for the college boys carrying the ball on the Raiders' 10, but again had to surrender the ball on downs.

The third period Estenik broke into the clear on a trick play, which found the college boys chasing McPhee, and race to the 10 for the fourth Raider touchdown.

DECEITFUL SCORES
The Raiders third backfield took over in the final period and scored on a 27-yard drive, sparked by some fine running and passing by Weber; and tallied when DeCelle took a pass on the Tech 40-yard stripe and raced the rest of the way to register the fifth and last touchdown of the night. Weber converted the extra point.

Kemp, Pawloski, Clyde Johnson and Kelley stood out in the Raiders' line the few minutes they were active. The college boys failed to gain any yardage to speak against the Raider first team line.

Michigan was brilliant. He only played about 12 minutes, but his line plunging was too much for the Tech lads, Estenik and Cenci, who also only saw brief action, turned in great ball games as did Weber, whose passing and running led to the final tally.

Pos. Louisiana Tech: touch-downs, McPhee 2, Cenci 1, Estenik 1. Extra points: Hecht 2, Weber 1.

TAPS FOR SPORTS
PIGSKIN FATTER: They're still talking about that Georgia Tech 17-15 victory over Navy last Saturday, the southern sports section bailing the tilt as the "greatest and most dramatic ever" . . . Maybe so—for this section of the country, but let a former sports scribbler from the East do a bit of reminiscing. . . . We recall vividly the crisp fall day at Harvard Stadium in Cambridge, Mass., when the Crimson underdogs held a vaunted Army eleven to a 26-26 tie, the outcome of the clash in doubt every moment, with 30,000 spectators biting their fingernails—and each other!

It was a perfect game for bald heads: hair raising! . . . Yes, the contest had everything: long runs and passes, field goals, and a safety. And in the closing seconds of play, the Harvard ball in the scoring position—but such actions could be continued for into the night, for neither team would admit defeat. . . . Then there was the never-to-be-forgotten Dartmouth-Yale battle, the latter favored over a team that had never conquered the Bulldogs in the Yale Bowl. The final score was 33-33, and the lead changed at least ten times during the melee. "They're still talking about THAT one!"

Incidentally, we noticed that Braden and Holy Cross decided to meet at week-end at 24-24, which must have been quite a grid-irony itself. The fracas was played in a muddy field, and the coaches best friend was his "mudder". . . . Both the Third and Fourth Infantry eleven's won over the week-end running up high scores, which shows they aren't saving "points". . . . The Reception Center Tigers ended up with a 0-0 tie against Tuskegee: all that work for "nothing". . . . Capt. Robert C. Weiland, Post Headquarters, caught a pass during this duel, accidentally, of course, and was loathe to part with the pigskin. He heaved it back with such vigor—finally—that the boys wanted to put him in the fray!

SPORTSLANTS: See where an armless bowler amassed the amazing score of 207 points! Now all we need is someone to tell us that the Venus de Milo was a boxer!

A mysterious "Lady in Red" has been visiting the racetracks in the East and betting several thousand on naps to "show". By so doing, the "phantom filly" has been putting the tracks in the "red".

"Sports training is the best to prepare youth for war," says Commander Gene Tunney, USNR. . . .

Tuskegee Warhawks Fight Tigers To Scoreless Draw

By CPL. LEW SWINGLER

Before a near capacity crowd of 15,000 fans at Doughboy Stadium Sunday afternoon, the Reception Center Tigers and the Tuskegee Army Air Field Warhawks fought it out for 60 minutes to a scoreless deadlock in their first gridiron encounter of the season.

The stalwart lines of both teams were so tightened that backfield players of each found only occasional opportunity for gaining yards from its line of scrimmage, and the contest was turned into a punting and passing duel.

Entering the game with odds slightly in their favor to win, the TAAF "Warhawks," coached by Lt. William "Big Bill" Bell, former coach of Florida A. & M. College, and an All-America tackle with the Ohio State Buckeyes during his college days, found in the Reception Center the toughest foe they've met this season.

START FAST
The Air Forces gridder took the offensive early in the first quarter and retained the ball for the greater portion of the first half. The Warhawks' single chance to cross the goal of the Reception Center Tigers was muffed in the first quarter when Bishop, left halfback of Brooklyn College, failed to reach "pay dirt" on the four-yard line. The alert Tiger line forced Bishop out of bounds as he scampered around right end for his unsuccessful attempt.

The Tigers, who last year won the Service and Southeastern Conference championships under tutelage of Capt. Russ Houghland, former grid ace at Norte Dame under the late Knute Rockne, threatened to score twice in the fourth quarter as they featured a series of quarterback sneaks by Leo Harrison, hard line plunges by Louis Crews, team captain, and Mike Cheatham, and end runs by Macon Williams, but the best they could do was to take the ball to the Warhawks' 14-yard line.

PUNTING DUEL
Both teams played cautious football and turned to punting when danger seemed imminent. The Tigers showed a better average in yardage gained through punting, while the Warhawks had the edge in yardage gained from line of scrimmage, and through completed and intercepted passes. Penalties, mainly for clipping and holding, cost the Tigers a loss of 45 yards as compared to 30 for Fort Benning's Reception Center.

Outstanding players for TAAF were Williams' team captain, of Xavier; Stewart, of West Virginia State; Wynn, Langston University; and Bishop, of Brooklyn College.

College. For the Reception Tigers, Mike Cheatham, of Alabama State; L. Crews, Alabama A. & M.; Harrison and Williams, Florida A. & M.; spearheaded the attack in the backfield, while the line gave splendid account of itself from end to end. Harrison and Williams of the Reception Center Tigers were coached during their college football playing by Coach Bell.

SAME HOME TOWN
Another unusual slant in the coaching personnel of both teams is the fact that both Captain Houghland, of the Tigers, and Lt. Bell of the Warhawks hail from the same town, Akron, Ohio. The two coaches agreed to have a return engagement between the
